Hello Friends and Neighbors,

It is with great pleasure and anticipation that we've tuned up our instruments and warmed up our voices in your city today. Thank you for coming out to join us in the festivities! Since our gathering is a musical one I have some musings on the subject….

When my daughter was born, I spent quite a while trying to decide what song she would first hear when she came home from the hospital. The first song in her life! What record would I play for her? I had been playing guitar and singing since I was 12 years old, and yet it never occurred to me that I could sing her that first song myself. Although we ended up listening to some great recorded music that day (The Melodians, a Jamaican rocksteady vocal trio, just fantastic), lately I've been considering the place where the recordings end and the soulful homemade singing and playing can begin.

Yes, these days I have a vision of a new and improved America! A singing, dancing, free-wheeling, shaking, inclusive America. Someone once asked me “Dan, how can we sing ‘Cock-a-doodle-doo’ when there are all these crazy things happening in the world?” That’s just it! That’s why we sing! It restores our spirits and gives us hope for the future. It gives us a sense of life’s best possibilities. When we make music together, we share our stories. We welcome each other into our lives. We give our children new ideas for social living and in return they show us how to dance like bears, or birds, or ice cream cones. And we have fun…unbelievable fun.

I love being in the world of families, because these are the people (from lack of sleep perhaps) who seem most likely to step into the unknown—and spontaneous casual music-making is, for most people, the unknown. I can’t say that it won’t feel a little awkward the first time someone suggests to dinner guests that they all sing “I’ve Been Working on the Railroad” before the meal, but I can guarantee that it will be memorable and probably exciting. The first time family and friends sing together in any capacity new traditions are made, bonds are created, spirits are lifted and the world suddenly becomes a more musical and peaceful place.

Thank you for joining us today. It may look at first like a show or a performance with a band and an audience, but in truth, we’re all in it together. Think of it as a house party or family reunion, or neighborhood block party. Some of us have instruments but everyone has a voice or dancing feet or clapping hands. This is our day together, and when the house lights go up and we all head on down the road, let’s be sure to make it a musical one!

Love,
Dan
After that band toured Europe with Primus, Colin was offered the drum seat with New Zealand singer Bic Runga, with whom he toured Australia and New Zealand. Upon returning to New York, he began playing with local singers Serena Jost and Dana Fuchs, while drumming on jingles and playing in the Off-Broadway musical Betty Rules. He also joined the Brooklyn-based band Sea Ray. Sea Ray toured the United States and Canada extensively and played many New York area shows. The group disbanded in January 2005. Colin next went to Montreal to record with The Stills. His drumming can be heard on their latest album, Without Feathers. He has most recently finished an album with his long-time band in Little Rock, The Big Cats. For online information, visit maxrecordings.com and searaymusic.com.

Sonia de Los Santos (guitar, vocals) was born in Monterrey, Mexico. During high school, Sonia received various awards for her appearance as a composer and interpreter of the song “Dos Niñas Más” at the National Festival of the Canción of the Instituto Tecnológico y de Estudios Superiores in Monterrey. Her acting career began with national tours of Fiddler on the Roof and Auntie Mame and A Chorus Line, and has earned a degree in communications and mass media. She is currently starring as the lead singer in the rock ‘n’ roll show Revolution at the Joyce Theater in New York City.

Born in West Caldwell, New Jersey, John Foti’s (accordion) first musical experience was figuring out the Seame Street theme song at a young age. Inspired by his father and older sister, he went on to take piano lessons through college—even when some kids said it “wasn’t cool” to play piano. John thought it was cool and kept playing. Speaking of cool, John is thrilled to be a part of Dan Zanes and Friends, playing perhaps the coolest instrument this side of the Mississippi—the accordion! His hobbies include thinking, writing music and poetry, sleeping, worrying about what the Yankees score is, running and watching Jim Henson’s Emmet Otter’s Jug-Band Christmas. You can say hello to John at www.myspace.com/johnfoti.

Born in San Francisco, Saskia Lane (bass) picked up her first stringed instrument at the age of four: the violin. Quickly realizing that the fiddle was far too small for such a big personality, Saskia switched to the stand-up bass the day she turned 11. Though she could not yet lift it without help, she embarked on intensive course of study and has been at it ever since. In 1997, she jumped a train to New York City where she earned her master’s degree in double-bass performance from The Juilliard School. The Manhattan-based musician performs throughout the tri-state area with a variety jazz, pop and classical artists. Saskia has also been active in education and outreach, working as a teaching artist for the 92nd Street Y and performing in the Carnegie Hall Neighborhood Concert Series. Saskia’s television credits include a national commercial for Chili’s Restaurants and appearances on the Discovery Channel, the Food Network, Fuse TV and CBS Evening News, and can be seen in the movie Mona Lisa Smiles, featuring Julia Roberts. Her discography includes recordings with Nicole Paiement, featuring the work of Lou Harrison (New Albion Records); the Gotham Ensemble (Albany Records), as well as three albums and a concert DVD (Eastway Records) with her critically acclaimed cocktail pop quartet, The Lascivious Biddies.

Hailing from Oak Ridge, Tennessee, Elena Moon Park (violin) began playing the violin and dancing at a young age. She played classical music for many years, until college drew her attention to traveling to far off places, going on long hiking trips, learning music and dance from other countries and studying American history. After her adventures, she was anxious to play the violin again and make fun, spontaneous music with many different musicians. Elena lived in the hills of Tennessee and the flatlands of Chicago before proudly calling
About the Artists

Brooklyn, New York, her home. Her interests include dancing, singing, playing the ukelele, helping to achieve equitable development in urban America, supporting the arts, and Sam Cooke’s “A Change Is Gonna Come.” She is very excited to be playing with Dan Zanes and Friends.

Rankin Don (a.k.a Father Goose) (vocals) recalls that when he was a young boy his sister was insistent that he should be involved with music. Being too young to go to the clubs and fêtes, his first experiences and interactions with music was using a mic and singing covers. He was already an underground superstar in Jamaica and Brooklyn when Notorious Bugs from Gyasi Record Label urged him to record for the mainstream. Soon after, he recorded the big hit “Baddest Dj,” which sold over 100,000 copies in the United States and abroad. A year after, the “Real McCoy,” was released and sold over 250,000 copies. He also recorded “The Big Race” with Roundhead, Screchie Don, General B and Baja Jedd, and has performed with the best of the best, including Freddie McGregor, Gregory Isaacs, 2002 Grammy Award nominee Beres Hammond and past Grammy-winners Shabba Ranks, Shaggy and Beenie Man. He is now a producer for Rock Tower Studios, known for its rich history in the foundation of reggae music. In his other life as Father Goose, he appears on all CD releases by Dan Zanes and Friends.
