ABOUT THE ARTISTS

Robert Wilson (Director/Set and Light Design) as “a towering figure in the world of experimental theater.” Mr. Wilson’s works integrate a wide variety of artistic media, combining movement, dance, lighting, furniture design, sculpture, music, and text into a unified whole. His images are aesthetically striking and emotionally charged, and his productions have earned the acclaim of audiences and critics worldwide. Mr. Wilson’s awards and honors include two Guggenheim Fellowship awards (1971 and 1980), the Rockefeller Foundation Fellowship award (1975), the nomination for the Pulitzer Prize in Drama (1986), the Golden Lion for sculpture from the Venice Biennale (1993), the Dorothy and Lillian Gish Prize for lifetime achievement (1996), the Premio Europa award from Taormina Arte (1997), election to the American Academy of Arts and Letters (2000), the National Design Award for lifetime achievement (2001), a Commandeur des Arts et des Lettres (2002), the Medal for Arts and Sciences of the City of Hamburg (2009), and the Hein Heckroth Prize for Set Design (2009).

A native of Waco, Texas, Mr. Wilson was educated at the University of Texas and arrived in New York in 1965 to attend Brooklyn’s Pratt Institute. Soon thereafter, Mr. Wilson set to work with his Byrd Hoffman School of Byrds, and together with this school developed his first signature works, including Death Destruction & Detroit (1979) and Death Destruction & Detroit II (1987); and at the Thalia he presented the groundbreaking musical works The Black Rider (1991) and Alice (1992). He has also applied his striking formal language to the operatic repertoire, including Parsifal in Hamburg (1991) and Houston (1992), and The Magic Flute (1991), Madame Butterfly (1993), and Lohengrin at the Metropolitan Opera in New York (1998).

Mr. Wilson recently completed an entirely new production, based on an epic poem from Indonesia, entitled I La Galigo, which toured extensively and appeared at the Lincoln Center Festival in summer 2005.

Mr. Wilson continues to direct revivals of his most celebrated productions, including The Black Rider in London, San Francisco, and Sydney, Australia; The Temptation of St. Anthony in New York and Barcelona; Erwartung in Berlin; Madama Butterfly at the Bolshoi Opera in Moscow, the Los Angeles Opera, and Het Muziektheater in Amsterdam; and Wagner’s The Ring at the Châtelet in Paris. For the Berliner Ensemble, he created two highly acclaimed recent productions: Brecht’s Dreigroschenoper and Shakespeare’s Sonnets, with music by Rufus Wainwright. Both productions received invitations to the Spoleto Festival and travel internationally. Mr. Wilson directs all of Monteverdi’s operas for the opera houses of La Scala in Milan and the Palais Garnier in Paris.

Mr. Wilson’s practice is firmly rooted in the fine arts, and his drawings, furniture designs, and installations have been shown in museums and galleries internationally. Extensive retrospectives have been presented at the Centre Georges Pompidou in Paris and the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. He has mounted installations at the Stedelijk Museum in Amsterdam, London’s Clink Street Vaults, and the Guggenheim Museums in New York and Bilbao. His extraordinary tribute to Isamu Noguchi has been exhibited most recently at the Seattle Art Museum, and his installation of the Guggenheim’s Giorgio Armani retrospective traveled to London, Rome, and Tokyo. In 2007, Paula Cooper Gallery and Phillips de Pury & Co in New York held exhibitions of his most recent artistic venture, the VOOM Portraits, with subjects including Gao Xingjian, Winona Ryder, Mikhail Baryshnikov, and Brad Pitt. The works have been shown at the Tribeca (2006) and Montreal (2008) film festivals, and in galleries and museums in Los Angeles, Naples, Moscow, Singapore, Graz, Milan, and Hamburg, and will continue to tour internationally over the next few years. His drawings, prints, videos, and sculpture are held in private collections and museums throughout the world. He is represented by the Paula Cooper Gallery in New York City.

Born in Baltimore, Maryland, Philip Glass (Composer) is a graduate of the University of Chicago and the Juilliard School. In the early 1960s, Mr. Glass spent two years of intensive study in Paris with Nadia Boulanger and, while there, earned money by transcribing Ravi Shankar’s Indian music into Western notation. Upon his return to New York, he applied these Eastern techniques to his own music. By 1974, Mr. Glass had a number of significant and innovative projects, creating a large collection of new music for his performing group, the Philip Glass Ensemble, and for the Mabou Mines Theater Company, which he co-founded. This period culminated in Music in Twelve Parts, followed by the landmark opera Einstein on the Beach, created with Robert Wilson in 1976.

Since Einstein, Mr. Glass has expanded his repertoire to include music for opera, dance, theater, chamber ensemble, orchestra, and film. His score for Martin Scorsese’s Kundun received an Academy Award nomination, while his score for Peter Weir’s The Truman Show won him a Golden Globe. His film score for Stephen Daldry’s The Hours received Golden Globe, Grammy, and Academy award nominations, along with winning a BAFTA in Film Music from the British Academy of Film and Television Arts. His original scores for the critically acclaimed films The Illusionist and Notes on a Scandal were released last year. Mr. Glass has received an Oscar nomination for his Notes score.

In 2004, Mr. Glass premiered the new work Orion—a collaboration between Mr. Glass and six other international artists opening in Athens as part of the cultural celebration of the 2004 Olympics in Greece, and his Piano Concerto No. 2 (“After Lewis and Clark”) with the Omaha Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Glass’s latest symphonies, Symphony No. 7 and Symphony No. 8, premiered in 2005 with the National Symphony Orchestra at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington DC, and Bruckner Orchester Linz at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, respectively. That year also saw the premiere of Waiting for the Barbarians, an opera based on the book by J. M. Coetzee. Mr. Glass’s orchestral tribute to Indian spiritual leader Sri Ramakrishna, The Passion of Ramakrishna, premiered in 2006 at Orange County Performing Arts Center.

Mr. Glass maintained a dense creative schedule throughout 2007 and 2008, unveiling several highly anticipated works, including Book of Longing, a collaboration with Leonard Cohen, and an opera about the end of the Civil War titled Appomattox. In April 2007, English National Opera, in conjunction with the Metropolitan Opera, remounted Glass’s Satyagraha, which appeared in New York in April 2008. Recent film projects include a score to Woody Allen’s film Casandra’s Dream and a documentary on Ray Kurzweil, Transcendent Man, which premiered in April 2009.

Mr. Glass’s recent opera, based on the life and work of Johannes Kepler and commissioned by Linz 2009, Cultural Capital of Europe, and Landestheater Linz, premiered in September 2009 in Linz, Austria, and in November 2009 at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. Symphony No. 9 was completed in 2011 and was premiered by the Bruckner Orchestra in Linz on January 1, 2012. The U.S. premiere took place at Carnegie Hall in New York on January 31, 2012, as part of the composer’s 75th birthday celebration. Symphony No. 10 received its European premiere in France in summer 2012. In August 2011, Mr. Glass launched the inaugural season of the Days and Nights Festival, a multidisciplinary arts festival in Carmel/Big Sur, California. Visit visitdansnightsfestival.com.

choireographers. She began her career as choreographer and performer in 1963, as an original member of the Judson Dance Theater in New York. After forming her own dance company in 1973, Ms. Childs collaborated with Robert Wilson and Philip Glass on the opera Einstein on the Beach in 1976, participating as principal performer and solo choreographer. In the subsequent revivals in 1984 and 1992, Ms. Childs choreographed the two “Field Dances” and was cast again as principal performer. She has appeared in five of Mr. Wilson’s major productions, among them Marguerite Duras’s Maladie de la Mort opposite Michel Piccoli, I Was Sitting on My Patio This Guy Appeared I Thought Was Hallucinating opposite Mr. Wilson, Heiner Müller’s Quartett, and Mr. Wilson and Mr. Glass’s opera White Raven.

Since 1979, Ms. Childs has collaborated with a number of composers and designers, including John Adams and Frank Gehry, on a series of large-scale productions. The first of these was Dance, choreographed in 1979 with music by Philip Glass, and a film/ décor by Sol LeWitt. It was during rehearsals for Einstein that Ms. Childs and Mr. Glass came up with the original idea for her seminal work, Dance. Dance continues to tour extensively in the United States and Europe and was cited by The Wall Street Journal (2011) as “one of the greatest achievements of the 20th century.” In a Washington Post review of Dance, Alan M. Kriegsman wrote, “a few times, at most, in the course of a decade a work of art comes along that makes a genuine breakthrough, defining for us new modes of perception and feeling and clearly belonging as much to the future as to the present. Such a work is Dance.”

Since 1981, Ms. Childs has received a number of commissions from major ballet and opera companies in the United States and Europe, including Tempo Vicino for the Ballet de Marseille in 2009 and Oceana for the Ballet de Nice in 2011. In the domain of opera, she has choreographed and directed Gluck’s Orfeo ed Euridice for the Los Angeles Opera and Mozart’s Zaide for La Monnaie in Brussels. In 2009, she was commissioned to direct and choreograph Le Rosignol and Oedipus for the Opéra du Rhin, and most recently the choreography and direction for Vivaldi’s Farnace with décor by Bruno de Lavenerie and musical direction by George Petrou, which premiered in May 2012. She has also choreographed Luc Bondy’s productions of Salome, Don Carlo, and Macbeth, as well as Roland Aeschlimann’s production of Parsifal.

Ms. Childs received a Guggenheim Fellowship in 1979, the year she created Dance. She is also the recipient of the NEA/ NEFA American Masterpiece Award, and in 2004 she was elevated from the rank of Officer to Commander in France’s Order of Arts and Letters.

Born in 1959, Christopher Knowles (Spoken Text) lives in Brooklyn, New York. In 1973, at the age of 14, he met Robert Wilson. Mr. Wilson heard an audio recording by Mr. Knowles, and invited him to collaborate and perform with his company, a partnership that continues today. Mr. Knowles first exhibited in 1974, and had solo exhibitions at Holly Solomon Gallery in 1978 and 1979. Mr. Knowles is best known for his “typings” of the 1970s and 1980s, text-based pieces that were developed as a private pastime. The exceptional ability in mathematical organization revealed in these works is a characteristic by-product of autism, with which Mr. Knowles was diagnosed as a child. His work also reveals affinities with the structure of serial art and music, and has a strong relationship to performance (the artist has also made live and recorded performances of his texts). Mr. Knowles’s typings, created on an electric typewriter, using red, black, and green inks, employ lists of words and phrases, including those derived from pop charts. Additional features include geometrical patterns, carefully built up using the artist’s initial, “C.” Mr. Knowles is represented by Gavin Brown’s enterprise in New York.

The late Samuel M. Johnson (Spoken Text) originated the role of Mr. Johnson and was the patriarch of the original 1976 Einstein on the Beach company. He had appeared in the CBS series Beacon Hill, in the movies Night Watch and Shuttle Escapade, and in Everybody Dance, a musical comedy.

Michael Riesman (Conductor, Philip Glass Ensemble Music Director, Keyboard) is a composer, conductor, keyboardist, producer, and musical director of the Philip Glass Ensemble. Mr. Riesman produced and conducted virtually every Glass soundtrack, continues to tour as a recitalist, soloist with major orchestras including the Chicago Symphony, and as guest conductor of the Los Angeles and New York philharmonic orchestras, among others. To date, Mr. Riesman has conducted every performance of Einstein on the Beach.

Ann-Christin Rommen (Co-Director) studied theater, film, and television at the University of Cologne in her native Germany. In 1984, she began her long collaboration with Robert Wilson for the CIVIL war$S, followed by the first revival of Einstein on the Beach. Since then she worked on more than 40 productions as Mr. Wilson’s co-director.

John Michael Deegan (Scenic Supervisor) has designed scenery and lighting internationally for such companies as Il Maggio Musicale Fiorentino, the Saito Kinen Festival, and the Iceland and Korean national operas, and in the United States for New York City Opera and the opera companies of Boston, Baltimore, Atlanta, and Houston. With Philip Glass, he designed La Belle et la Bête and Dracula.

Kurt Munkaci (Sound Design) has worked with Philip Glass since 1972 as sound designer, engineer, music producer, and record executive. His designs include Philip Glass Ensemble concerts, Music in Twelve Parts, Dracula, La Belle et La Bête, 1,000 Airplanes on the Roof, Hydrogen Jukebox, Monsters of Grace, and Les Enfants Terribles. He produced Mr. Glass’s recordings for the Oscar-nominated scores to The Hours and Kundun, as well as Koyaanisqatsi, Dracula, Satyagraha, Songs from Liquid Days, The Truman Show, and The Thin Blue Line. Mr. Munkaci is President of Mr. Glass’s record label, Orange Mountain Music.

Charles Otte (Directing Associate) is a director of theater, film, and media. His clients include BAM, Monty Python Productions, A&E, Lincoln Center, La Mama, Sundance Institute, Los Angeles Opera, Houston Opera, ART, Guthrie Theater, Lincoln Presidential Museum, and the Texas History Museum. Mr. Otte is currently Co-Artistic Director for Zoo District Theatre in Los Angeles and Professor of Integrated Media at the University of Texas at Austin. He stage-managed Einstein on the Beach in 1984.

Urs Schönebaum (Lights) has designed lights for opera, theater, installations, and performances in over 70 productions at major theaters worldwide. He works regularly with Thomas Ostermeier, Stefan Larsson, LaFuradsBaus, William Kentridge, and Robert Wilson. His work also includes lighting design for art projects with Vanessa Beecroft, Anselm Kiefer, Dan Graham, and Marina Abramović.

Carlos Soto (Costumes, Wardrobe Supervisor) has collaborated with Robert Wilson since 1997 as performer, designer, and assistant on numerous European and American productions and installations, including The Life and Death of Marina Abramovic. His various collaborations have spanned contemporary art and theater, presenting at Performa 09, Moscow Museum of Modern Art, and the Guggenheim, among others.

Luc Verschueren (Hair and Makeup) is Co-Director of Campbell Young Associates. His theater credits include Private Lives, La Bête, Spider-Man, Mary Stuart, Billy Elliot, Rock and Roll (Broadway); and Ghost, Love Never Dies, Priscilla, The Black Rider, and many productions for Young Vic (London). His opera credits include Der Freischütz (Baden-Baden), Tristan und Isolde (La Scala), From the House of the Dead (Vienna), and The Ring (Tokyo).

THE WATERMILL CENTER

Watermill is a laboratory for performance founded by Robert Wilson as a unique environment for young and emerging artists from around the world to explore new ideas. Watermill draws inspiration from all the arts and cultures as well as from social, human, and natural sciences. Watermill is a global community of artists where living and working together among the extensive collection of art and artifacts lies at the heart of the experience. Watermill strives to be a haven for a next generation of artists while supporting their work among a network of international institutions that embrace new interdisciplinary approaches.

Many of the world’s most celebrated artists have participated in Watermill programs, including Trisha Brown, David Byrne, Lucinda Childs, Philip Glass, Isabelle Huppert, Jeanne Moreau, Lou Reed, Miranda Richardson, Dominique Sanda, Susan Sontag, and Mr. Wilson himself. Theaters and museums around the world have mounted dozens of projects that were originally developed at the Watermill Center.

In the words of Jessye Norman, “Watermill is the best idea to find a place in the world of arts since Pierre Boulez created IRCAM in Paris. Robert Wilson’s unique gifts and spirit provide the strong basis of a new vision of the creation and presentation of all that we think of as theater in particular, combining all of the arts in a fresh perspective.”

The Byrd Hoffman Water Mill Foundation operates the Center and coordinates its artistic programs. In addition, the Center has established collaborative networks with both neighboring and international cultural and educational institutions. Its artistic programs are financed through the generous support of individual and corporate sponsors, and state institutions.

The Watermill Center’s new facilities were inaugurated in July 2006. Since the Grand Opening, the Watermill Center offers a wide range of programs and activities throughout the year. For the well-known International Summer Arts Program, Mr. Wilson invites 60 to 80 artists who come from over 25 countries—48 countries so far—for four to five weeks of intense creative exploration. There are daily workshops with Mr. Wilson and his collaborators, based on new projects they are developing in all areas of the arts. Residents also develop their own work under Mr. Wilson’s guidance. A lecture series completes the ambitious program. Its mission is to give young emerging artists time and space to create new original works in all artistic fields and related disciplines and to offer them a network of associated institutions, artists and alumni to support them in their artistic and professional development.

For the Center’s fall and spring residency programs, which take place from September to June, a high profile committee of practitioners in the arts and humanities—including Mr. Wilson, Marina Abramović, Alanna Heiss, Albert Mayles, Gerard Mortier, John Rockwell, Jonathan Safran Foer, Richard Sennett, and Nike Wagner—selects over 15 groups, individual artists and scholars in residence to workshop their own creations. The residencies are complemented by educational programs with schools and other institutions; public events, such as open rehearsals, lectures, seminars, and symposia; and tours of the building and grounds.

London-based performance and video artist Daria Martin writes about her Watermill experience: “We are encouraged to use the space as we see fit, whenever suits us.... We also enjoyed the freedom of wandering through Robert Wilson’s incredible collection of objects, unhindered by protective glass, etc.—these statues add a provocative texture to thoughts and to work.... The peace and tranquility here is gold dust. You can watch your own thoughts drift past like in a meditation....”
