LA Phil’s YOLA is possible because of extraordinary partnerships with Harmony Project; the EXPO Center, a City of Los Angeles Department of Recreation and Parks facility; Friends of EXPO; Heart of Los Angeles; the Los Angeles County High School for the Arts; and the L.A. County Office of Education with the support of Chair of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors Hilda L. Solis.

YOLA’s California tour is supported by generous grants from The Legacy Foundation and Kaiser Permanente.

Launched in 2007, YOLA—inspired by the groundbreaking El Sistema initiative that nurtured Gustavo Dudamel while he grew up in Venezuela—is the Los Angeles Philharmonic’s bold move to establish youth orchestras in underserved communities throughout Los Angeles. With the support of community partners, YOLA provides free instruments, intensive music training, and academic support, encouraging young people to become vital citizens, leaders, and agents of change.

Gustavo Dudamel (conductor) is defined by his untiring advocacy of access to music for all. As a symphonic and operatic conductor, his music making on four continents continues to inspire audiences of all ages. Dudamel currently serves as music and artistic director of the Los Angeles Philharmonic and music director of the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra of Venezuela, and the impact of his musical leadership is felt internationally. While his commitment to these posts accounts for the major portion of his yearly schedule, Dudamel also guest conducts with some of the world’s greatest musical institutions, including the Vienna Philharmonic, to which he returned last year to lead the orchestra in Vienna and on tour. Opera features prominently in his schedule with recent performances of La bohème at Teatro alla Scala with the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra, a return to the Berlin State Opera for a new Marriage of Figaro production, and a Vienna State Opera debut conducting a new production of Turandot.

Now in his eighth season with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Dudamel’s contract has been extended through the 2021–22 season. Under his leadership the Los Angeles Philharmonic has expanded its diversified outreach through many notable projects, including Youth Orchestra Los Angeles. With YOLA, Dudamel brings music to children in the underserved communities of Los Angeles, and also acts as an inspiration for similar efforts throughout the United States and in Europe.

In his eighteenth season as music director of the entire El Sistema project in Venezuela, he continues to lead the Simón Bolívar Symphony Orchestra in Venezuela as well as on tour.

A Grammy winner and a Deutsche Grammophon artist since 2005, Dudamel has numerous recordings on DG, as well as many video/DVD releases that capture the excitement of significant moments of his musical life. Recently, he independently produced an all-Wagner recording with the Bolívars exclusively for digital download.

Dudamel is one of the most decorated conductors of his generation: recent distinctions include the 2014 Leonard Bernstein Lifetime Achievement Award for the Elevation of Music in Society from the Longy School, Musical America’s 2013 Musician of the Year and induction into the Gramophone Hall of Fame, the Eugene McDermott Award in the Arts at MIT (2010), Chevalier de l’Ordre des Arts et des Lettres, being named one of Time magazine’s 100 Most Influential People, and the 2008 “Q” Prize from Harvard, along with several honorary doctorates.
