An American Modern Opera Company Production (US Premiere)

Zack Winokur, director

Julia Bullock, soprano

Conor Hanick, piano

Bobbi Jene Smith, choreographer and dancer

Or Schraiber, choreographer and dancer

Program:

Harawi, an American Modern Opera Company production, realizes Olivier Messiaen's deeply affecting hour-long song cycle for voice and piano in a newly physicalized and dramatized dimension featuring company members soprano Julia Bullock, pianist Conor Hanick, and choreographers/dancers Bobbi Jene Smith and Or Schraiber, with direction by Zack Winokur. Moving from duet to quartet, the production breaks open Messiaen's cycle, connects the relationship between movement and music, and grapples with the intensity of love and loss in the human experience.

Program:

Perkinson/Blue/s Forms for Solo Violin

Mozart/Violin Sonata No. 21 in E minor, K. 2304

Beethoven/Violin Sonata No. 9 in A major, Op. 47, Kreutzer

Dynamic violinist Njioma Chinyere Grevious performs her Cal Performances debut in a recital that showcases her technique and versatility. A 2024 winner of the Avery Fisher Career Grant, the up-and-coming artist is a featured performer in the Sphinx Soloist Program, which showcases top Black and Latinx string players who are laureates of the prestigious Sphinx Competition. The solo work Blue/s Forms is a rarely performed work by Black American composer Coleridge-Taylor Perkinson, who was active in New York’s classical and jazz music worlds from the 1950s through the ’90s. Beethoven’s brilliant Kreutzer sonata and Mozart’s elegiac E minor sonata round out the program.

Step Afrika!

The Migration: Reflections on Jacob Lawrence

Program:

Washington DC's celebrated step dance company celebrates its 30th anniversary with a production that tells the story of the Great Migration through Black dance forms, bold visual art, and vivid theatricality. The Migration is based on Jacob Lawrence's famous series of paintings from the early 1940s that explored the Black American migration experience in a modernist style with a distinctive earth-tone color palette. Set to a soundtrack that includes music by Nina Simone and John Coltrane, gospel music, and West African drumming, the movement traces a historical arc from Africa to the post-Civil War South to a new life in the North, the choreography a mix of stepping, tap, body percussion, and modern dance.

Sonata No. 2 in A minor, BWV 1003

Sonata No. 3 in C major, BWV 1005

Saturday, November 16:

JS Bach/Sonata No. 1 in G minor, BWV 1001

Partita No. 1 in B minor, BWV 1002

Partita No. 2 in D minor, BWV 1004

Violinist Leonidas Kavakos, admired for balancing clarity and expressive power in his lyrical playing, performs towering works in the repertoire, Bach's Sonatas and Partitas for Solo Violin. The pieces conjure vast sonic landscapes with just four gut strings and a horsehair bow. Considered both an invitation and a challenge to violinists since they were first published more than 220 years ago, these touchstones of European music come with a title—“Sei Solo”—that in Italian both describes the work itself (“Six Solos”) and acts as a sobering reminder to the player (“You are alone”).

Program:

JS Bach/Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue in D minor, BWV 903

Brahms/Ballades, Op. 10

Beethoven arr. Liszt/Symphony No. 7 in A major, Op. 92

Pianist Igor Levit’s bold recital programs place masterworks of the canon alongside lesser-known gems. Praised for his extraordinary technique and musicianship, Levit also stands out in the world of classical music as a cultural omnivore who has cited Thelonious Monk and hip-hop among his influences. His artistry revels in extremes—in this performance, he matches Brahms’ sensual Ballades with Liszt’s challenging transcription of Beethoven’s Seventh Symphony.

Dorrance Dance

Michelle Dorrance, Hannah Heller, Josette Wiggan/The Nutcracker Suite (Bay Area Premiere) (music: Duke Ellington and Billy Strayhorn's interpretation of the Tchaikovsky score)

Program:

Tap dance meets jazz rhythms in Dorrance Dance's production of this holiday classic. Danced to Duke Ellington and Billy Strayhorn's jazz interpretation of the classic Tchaikovsky score, The Nutcracker Suite boogies, slides, struts, and dives through the magical story of a young girl and her fantastical Christmas adventure. Along with collaborators Hannah Heller and Josette Wiggan, artistic director Michelle Dorrance gives the ballet's pageant of national dances a 21st-century twist as the Sugar Plum Fairy transforms into a slinky Sugar Rum Cherry and the "March of the Toy Soldiers" becomes a swinging brass "Peanut Brittle Brigade" romp, among other creative inventions..

Choreographer Ohad Naharin and powerhouse dance company Batsheva come to Berkeley for the Bay Area premiere of a new work. In the company's words, "MOMO has two souls. One sends long roots to the depths of the earth—a soul that embodies archetypes and myths of hardened, raw masculinity, and the other is in a constant search for an individual and distinct DNA; one moves within its own autonomous and independent force field, and the other is a constellation of elements that spin around the same nucleus—alternately drifting away and towards it, making room for necessary tenderness and catharsis.” Recordings of Laurie Anderson and Kronos Quartet’s Landfall and Philip Glass’ Metamorphosis II provide the slow simmering musical backdrop, alongside Madre Acapella, a song/prayer by Venezuelan musician Arca, and additional music by Naharin himself under the moniker Maxim Waratt.

Ladysmith Black Mambazo

Program:

Beloved South African vocal group Ladysmith Black Mambazo returns to Zellerbach Hall to perform its iconic harmonies and inspiring message. Since its launch to global stardom on Paul Simon’s Graceland album in 1986, the group has won five Grammys and sung for millions across continents. Born from struggle under its country’s apartheid regime, Ladysmith sings songs of freedom, love, and peace. Nelson Mandela famously cited the group’s music as a source of strength and inspiration during his imprisonment.

Program:

yMusic continues its long collaborative relationship with composer and Berkeley native, Gabriella Smith, with an ambitious new project co-commissioned by Cal Performances. A composer with an ecologist's soul, Smith traveled the world recording underwater environments, from coral reefs to tidepools, freshwater marshes to the open ocean, to create her latest work for the adventurous ensemble. The new score, a blend of acoustic performance with raw and processed field recordings, is Smith's invitation to the listener to commune and connect with the fragile beauty of the natural world threatened by climate change.

Sullivan Fortner Trio

Program:

Over the past decade, pianist Sullivan Fortner has developed a distinctive approach to jazz that combines his New Orleans heritage with the hard bop sounds of New York and a cosmopolitan flair born from years touring the world with luminaries like Roy Hargrove and Cécile McLorin Salvant. Fortner's most recent release is a solo record that showcases the breadth of his artistry, featuring original compositions alongside classics by Stevie Wonder, Antonio Carlos Jobim, Kurt Weill, and Duke Ellington. Cal Performances audiences will recall his role as a sideman with Salvant at her January 2024 Zellerbach Hall concert, and with this performance he makes his Cal Performances debut as a bandleader with a hard-swinging trio of like-minded talents.

William Kentridge, concept and director

Nhlanhla Mahlangu, associate director and choral composer

Phala O. Phala, associate director

Tlale Makhene, music director

Mwenya Kabwe, dramaturg

Program:

Internationally acclaimed for his visual art and theater productions, South African artist William Kentridge returns to UC Berkeley with his latest creation for the stage, a chamber opera set on a 1941 sea voyage from Marseille to Martinique. Conceived in collaboration with theater maker Phala Ookeditse Phala and choral conductor and dancer Nhlanhla Mahlangu, The Great Yes, The Great No fictionalizes the historic wartime escape from Vichy France by, among others, the surrealist André

Breton, the anthropologist Claude Lévi-Strauss, and the Cuban artist Wifredo Lam—and imaginatively adds a distinguished and colorful cast of characters to the passenger list, like Aimé Césaire, Josephine Baker, Leon Trotsky, and Joseph Stalin.

In Kentridge's hands, the ship becomes a fantastical menagerie of thinkers, makers, and revolutionaries in a production that merges real-life events with lush South African choral music, dance, poetry, and anti-rational approaches to language and image. Kentridge's visual inventiveness combines animated drawings, video projection, masks, shadow play, and bold sculptural costumes with spoken and projected text that explores the relationship between surrealism and the anticolonial Négritude movement.

The Mahler Chamber Orchestra returns with pianist Mitsuko Uchida, continuing a multiyear collaboration to bring Mozart’s piano concertos to Berkeley audiences. These original compositions are a boundless playground where Mozart explored new ideas of musical drama, form, and ensemble interplay. A revered Mozartean, Uchida has lived with these works for decades, performing and recording them to great acclaim, and she has spoken about the merits and pleasures of returning to familiar repertoire throughout her career. The composer’s music, she has said, “is about conversation and happiness and joy and sorrow and life. Mozart wrote so many wonderful pieces, but for me his concerti are infinitely deeper and varied, and each is an instrumental opera.”

Story Boldly's Defining Courage

An Immersive Live Event

Program:

Defining Courage commemorates the struggles and sacrifices of the Nisei soldiers of World War II through vivid cinematography, live music, eyewitness interviews, and storytelling. Serving in segregated units, these Americans of Japanese ancestry were among the war's most decorated soldiers, unsung heroes fighting for the US while many of their families were in incarceration camps back at home. The production is a creation of Story Boldly, a nonprofit initiative devoted to journalistic storytelling founded by Emmy Award-winning creators David Ono (an anchor on KABC-TV in Los Angeles) and television producer Jeff MacIntyre. Ono has described the project as a work of historic reclamation: "They're truly some of America's greatest heroes, some of the toughest guys we've ever created."
