Special Event

Sarabande Africaine

Angélique Kidjo and Yo-Yo Ma

Program:

Two endlessly curious musicians come together to search beyond the edges of their musical backgrounds, exposing the ways humans have all been connected for a very long time; it's a collaboration that asks listeners to joyfully question the tenets of genre and tradition that underpin cultural thinking.

An Illuminations: “Exile & Sanctuary” event. Visit calperformances.org/illuminations to learn more.

Daniil Trifonov, piano

Program:

Handel/Suite in G minor
Brahms/Variations and Fugue on a Theme by Handel
Variations on a Theme by Robert Schumann
R. Schumann/Dauidsbündlertänze

Pianist Daniil Trifonov is known for constructing gripping narrative arcs across the length of his concerts, and for delivering the most serene, delicate moments in an almost conspiratorial whisper, while building rippling layers of sound to conjure power and emotion from the keyboard. The repertoire for this recital centers on two inventive and virtuosic series of variations by Brahms.

A North American Premiere by Hofesh Shechter

Program:

Hofesh Shechter/New Work (North American Premiere)

Steeped in a ballet tradition that dates to the court of Louis XIV, the dancers of the Paris Opera Ballet meet the visceral and emotive choreography of London-based choreographer Hofesh Shechter in the North American premiere of a new evening-length work. Shechter creates vivid, urgent cinematic tableaux in his works, and his new creation—which will be danced to live music provided by a quartet of cello, double bass, drums, and a woodwind instrument—has been envisioned especially for the Paris Opera Ballet, whose tour includes only two US cities, with Berkeley as the only one on the West Coast.

Schwanengesang

Program:

Schubert/Schwanengesang and selected works for solo keyboard

Mezzo-soprano Anne Sofie von Otter, known as the Octavian (Der Rosenkavalier) of her generation, has long associations with Carlos Kleiber, Claudio Abbado, and Sir Colin Davis, and has a history of genre-crossing collaborations with the likes of Elvis Costello, Brad Mehldau, and Rufus Wainwright. In this recital with keyboardist Kristian Bezuidenhout, she brings her intensity to Schubert's Schwanengesang song cycle, a collection first published after the composer's death that mines complex emotional terrain, from love and despair to sorrow and serenity. A selection of Schubert keyboard interludes, interspersed with the songs, showcases Bezuidenhout's talents.

Beyond the Golden Gate

Wu Man, pipa, in conversation with David Lei

Windy Chien, visuals

Featuring music by Dai Wei, Wu Man, Lu Yun, Tan Dun, and Charmaine Lee

Since its founding 50 years ago, Kronos Quartet has revolutionized what a string quartet can be. Through collaborations with musicians and composers across the globe, commissioning initiatives, educational programs, and exceptional musicianship, Kronos has made concert music responsive to the people and issues of the time.

Joined by the next generation of Kronos musicians in the quartet's current lineup, founder David Harrington has doubled down on the ensemble's mission. Its two-part Berkeley program features new and recent works by an international cohort of women composers, including world premieres by Dai Wei and Victoria Shen; plus a special presentation of Beyond the Golden Gate, a hybrid performance-discussion-screening with Bay Area community activist David Lei that explores the impact of Chinese Americans on American culture.

Shostakovich/Symphony No. 5

London's Philharmonia Orchestra returns to Berkeley with Finnish conductor Santtu-Matias Rouvali, making his Cal Performances debut. In two programs featuring 2025–26 season Artist in Residence Víkingur Ólafsson, orchestra, conductor, and soloist take audiences on a journey through a collection of works spanning from Romantic masterpieces to a new commission.

The first concert features Ólafsson as soloist in Beethoven's iconic Emperor concerto, as well as the orchestra performing Sibelius' Fifth Symphony. The program also includes the Bay Area premiere of a new commission by Mexican composer Gabriela Ortiz who won three 2025 Grammy Awards for a recording of her most recent orchestral works.

The second concert matches Ravel's jazz-inflected Piano Concerto in G major with Shostakovich's turbulent Fifth Symphony.

Jessie Montgomery/Lady Justice/Black Justice, The Song

Jlin/Please Be Still

Tigran Hamasyan/Sonata for Percussion

In a tribute to the late tabla master Zakir Hussain, Chicago’s Third Coast Percussion continues a collaboration initiated with the music legend before his passing. The Grammy-winning ensemble had commissioned Hussain to compose Murmurs in Time—a work that combines the beauty and complexity of Hindustani classical music with the group’s new-music ethos. In this Bay Area premiere, Salar Nader, a tabla virtuoso and disciple of Hussain since age seven, performs his teacher’s part in the ensemble. The program also includes newly commissioned works from composer/performers Jessie Montgomery, Tigran Hamasyan, and Jlin, and a solo performance by Nader.

Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui, choreographer

Antony Gormley, visual creation and design

Szymon Brzóska, composer

Program:

Contemporary dance and ancient martial arts combine in this award-winning collaboration between Belgian choreographer Sidi Larbi Cherkaoui, sculptor Antony Gormley, composer Szymon Brzóska, and 20 Buddhist monks from the Shaolin Temple in China's Henan Province. Sutra explores the Shaolin kung fu tradition in the context of contemporary culture, inviting a cadre of modern-day practitioners to lend their skills—the flying kicks, backflips, and shadow-boxing practiced as part of their spiritual discipline—to a humorous fable about a European outsider learning about their monastery. The chamber music score by Brzóska is performed live.

Handel/Selections from Aminta e Fillide, HWV 83

The next-generation period-instrument ensemble Twelfth Night, founded by violinist Rachell Ellen Wong and harpsichordist David Belkovski (who made their Cal Performances debuts with cellist Coleman Itzkoff in the 2022–23 season), makes its Berkeley debut with a concert performance of Handel's romantic comedy Aminta e Fillide. In the part of the shepherd Aminta, soprano Nicoletta Berry sings the aria “Se vago rio fra sassi”; and as the nymph Fillide, mezzo-soprano Megan Moore, performs “Fiamma bella ch’al ciel s’invia.” Excerpts from Vivaldi’s opera Il Giustino showcase the ensemble’s fiery instrumentalists.

The 4th Witch, Inspired by Macbeth (Cal Performances Co-commission)

Program:

The visual storytellers of Manual Cinema return to Cal Performances with another meticulously crafted handmade production. The 4th Witch follows a young girl, orphaned during wartime, who becomes unwittingly apprenticed to the three witches from Shakespeare's Macbeth. As the truth of her family's fate is revealed, she must choose between paths of reconciliation and vengeance. Told without text—like a silent film coming to life on stage—the story explores themes of war and generational conflict through shadow puppetry, actors in silhouette, immersive sound design, and live music.

Program:

Choreographer Mark Morris looks upward at the Moon as his next source of inspiration, exploring humankind's fascination with the constant celestial companion. This new multimedia work danced before a backdrop featuring video, animation, and photo stills of the Moon is set to live and recorded music that includes popular American songbook tunes, as well as excerpts from NASA's Golden Record—a gold-plated copper phonograph record that was launched into space on the Voyager 1 and Voyager 2 spacecrafts in 1977, carrying sounds and images of Earth as a message to any potential extraterrestrial life. The live music features selections from Marcel Dupré's 24 Inventions, Op. 50 and György Ligeti's Musica ricercata, performed on piano, organ, and double bass. Morris says of earthlings' attempts to understand their enigmatic neighbor, "I'm interested in how the Moon came to be our fall-in-love token, and the mystery and glamour of it."

As early as the 1930s, the members of Martha Graham’s company reflected diverse cultural backgrounds, and Graham’s commitment to experimentation and attention to contemporary social, political, psychological, and gender issues has forever altered the scope and direction of the art form.

The Graham company returns to Cal Performances for the first time in more than a decade to celebrate its 100th anniversary with classic Graham works such as the iconic Appalachian Spring, the psychological thriller Night Journey, and the anti-war protest Chronicle—all featuring Isamu Noguchi’s original sets—alongside newly commissioned dances by contemporary choreographers. Jamar Roberts’ We the People, a collaboration with roots musician Rhiannon Giddens, explores rage and resistance; and choreography team Baye & Asa creates a new work in response to Graham’s seminal war protest, Cortege of Eagles. Hope Boykin, Ailey alumna and experienced choreographer for dance, theater, and film, also premieres a new work.

Chris Thile, mandolin and vocals

Program:

Chris Thile brings the full range of emotions to his eclectic recital performances, whether performing on the mandolin, singing a ballad, or telling stories that recall his time as host of the public radio program Live from Here. Drawing on selections from Laysongs, his first-ever solo recording from 2024, the MacArthur Fellow and four-time Grammy winner is just as likely to play his highly personal take on a Bach partita as he is a classic bluegrass tune, or one of his introspective original songs.

Gathering

Program:

Conceived, written, and directed by choreographer Samar Haddad King, Gathering is a full-length work exploring themes of love, loss, trauma, and dislocation. Through movement, text, song, and puppetry, an international cohort of collaborating artists tells a fictional story of a village under siege, and one woman's struggle to reconcile her fragmented memories. Part staged work, part interactive experience, Gathering invites audiences to join as participants and witnesses in the collective action.

Julia Keefe Indigenous Big Band

Program:

The Julia Keefe Indigenous Big Band celebrates and extends the contributions of Native musicians, composers, and bandleaders throughout the rich history of jazz. Indigenous artists like Russell "Big Chief" Moore, Mildred Bailey, Oscar Pettiford, and Jim Pepper ascended into the limelight as star performers, but many other players were never recognized. Keefe's dynamic ensemble shines a light on that legacy, featuring a "who's who" of Indigenous musicians from a range of tribal affiliations across North and South America.

Jazz/Film Screening with Live Music

Charlie Chaplin's The Kid

Marc Ribot, guitar

Program:

Iconoclast guitarist and fixture of New York's downtown music scene, Marc Ribot lends his distinctive musical personality to a live score for a special screening of Charlie Chaplin's 1921 silent masterpiece, The Kid. Ribot's bluesy avant-roots guitar playing is instantly recognizable as the sound of Tom Waits' albums of the 1980s and '90s. In his own work, he has explored the legacy of free jazz hero Albert Ayler, Cuban bandleader Arsenio Rodríguez, and Haitian classical composer Frantz Casseus. Ribot channels all these influences as a counterpoint to Chaplin's slapstick and sentimental story of an abandoned child and his adoptive father.

Program:

Britain's early-music ensemble returns with a concert performance of the Handel masterwork Hercules. With a libretto in English, the opera is a showcase for mezzo-soprano Ann Hallenberg, who sings the role of the hero's wife Dejanira, evolving from impatience to rage to despair as her jealousy leads her to murder and madness. It also features some of Handel's choral writing performed by the voices of New York City's Clarion Choir.

Program:

This original presentation of the fairy tale Beauty and the Beast blurs the distinctions between film and live opera, merging Jean Cocteau's classic 1946 romantic fantasy story on screen with Philip Glass' 1994 score. Glass composed the music as a new soundtrack to the film, transforming the original spoken French dialogue into sung libretto. Now Opera Parallèle has responded to the dreamlike, subconscious elements of the story with its own new film and stage direction, further blurring the barriers between the characters onscreen and the singers on stage.

Scriabin/Piano Sonata No. 10

Beethoven/Piano Sonata No. 32 in C minor, op. 111

French pianist Alexandre Kantorow makes his Berkeley debut in a wide-ranging program of keyboard music. The recital features Liszt's piano variations on themes from Bach's twelfth cantata, Chopin's dreamy C-sharp minor Prelude, and Scriabin's restless Sonata No. 10, nicknamed the “insect sonata” because of all the restless trills in the score. By contrast, Nikolai Medtner's rarely performed first sonata is all lyricism and logic.
