FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: January 15, 2014

18TH-CENTURY OPERATIC RIVALRY EXPLORED AS VENICE BAROQUE ORCHESTRA AND COUNTERTENOR PHILIPPE JAROUSSKY PERFORM WORKS OF PORPORA AND HANDEL, FEBRUARY 7 AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Academic discussion of the high male voice in music to be held at UC Berkeley on the afternoon of Friday, February 7

BERKELEY, January 15, 2014—Works for castrati take the spotlight when Venice Baroque Orchestra and French countertenor Philippe Jaroussky stage “A Legendary Battle: Farinelli & Porpora vs. Carestini & Handel” at Cal Performances on Friday, February 7, at 8:00 p.m. in First Congregational Church. The concert will explore the period from 1733 to 1736, when Porpora and Handel each led opera companies in London and created new works featuring the castrato voice. Porpora composed works for his student Farinelli, while Handel wrote for Giovanni Carestini. The Venice Baroque Orchestra is acclaimed for its “percolating energy and lithe, silvery tone” (The Washington Post) and Jaroussky is admired for his “pure, boyishly radiant voice and admirable coloratura technique” (The New York Times). This is the orchestra’s first appearance at Cal Performances, and Jaroussky’s first appearance since his 2011 Berkeley debut. Many of the works on this concert appear on “Jaroussky/Farinelli: Porpora Arias,” Jaroussky’s new album featuring the Venice Baroque Orchestra and famed mezzo-soprano Cecilia Bartoli, to be released in the United States on January 28, 2014.

In a related Education & Community Event, professors James Davies and Mary Ann Smart of the UC Berkeley Department of Music will lead a discussion about countertenor repertoire, castrati and travesti roles, and the high male voice in pop music today. The discussion will be held on Friday, December 7 at 4:30 p.m. in Room 125 of Morrison Hall on the UC Berkeley campus.

The Berkeley program performed by Venice Baroque Orchestra and Philippe Jaroussky will mix purely instrumental works by Porpora and Handel with arias written for castrati from several of the composers’ operas. The concert opens with the overture from Porpora’s 1732 opera Il Germanico, followed by Porpora arias from Arianna e Teseo (1727) and Semiramide riconosciuta (1739). A Handel Concerto Grosso will be followed by two arias from the composer’s 1735 opera Alcina. After an intermission, two Handel arias—from Oreste (1734) and Ariodante (1735)—will be followed by a different Handel Concerto Grosso. The concert will conclude with two arias from Porpora’s 1735 opera Polifemo.

The Venice Baroque Orchestra, founded in 1997 by scholar and harpsichordist Andrea Marcon, is widely praised as one of the world’s top period instrument ensembles. The orchestra has presented modern-day premieres of rediscovered works by Cavalli, Vivaldi, Marcello, and Boccherini, made several award-winning recordings, and appeared in concert halls, on radio and television broadcasts, and in films worldwide.

Philippe Jaroussky began his musical training as a violinist and holds a diploma in violin performance from the Paris Conservatory. He began vocal studies in 1996 and was soon one of the most prominent countertenors on the world stage. In addition to singing with orchestras, ensembles, and opera companies worldwide, Jaroussky has made several award-winning recordings and founded L’ensemble Artaserse, a small period-instrument group that plays and has recorded widely.
