SYNOPSIS

Acis is in love with Galatea.

The monster, Polyphemus, also loves her.

In a jealous rage, and spurned by Galatea,

Polyphemus hurls a boulder at Acis and mortally wounds him.

Galatea uses her magic powers to change her dead lover

into a stream that will flow eternally.

ACIS AND GALATEA

Libretto by John Gay, with Alexander Pope and John Hughes

Act I

Sinfonia

Chorus
O the pleasure of the plains!
Happy nymphs and happy swains,
Harmless, merry, free and gay,
Dance and sport the hours away.
For us the zephyr blows,
For us distills the dew,
For us unfolds the rose,
And flow'rs display their hue.
For us the winters rain,
For us the summers shine,
Spring swells for us the grain,
And autumn bleeds the vine.
O the pleasure…

Recitative

Galatea
Ye verdant plains and woody mountains,
Purling streams and bubbling fountains,
Ye painted glories of the field,
Vain are the pleasures which we yield;
Too thin the shadow of the grove,
Too faint the gales, too cool my love.

Air

Galatea
Hush, ye pretty warbling choir!
Your thrilling strains
Awake my pains,
And kindle fierce desire.
Cease your song, and take your flight,
Bring back my Acis to my sight!
Hush, ye pretty…

Air

Acis
Where shall I seek the charming fair?
Direct the way, kind genius of the mountains!
O tell me, if you saw my dear,
Seeks she the groves, or bathes in crystal fountains?
Where shall I seek…

Recitative

Damon
Stay, shepherd, stay!

See, how thy flocks in yonder valley stray!
What means this melancholy air?
No more thy tuneful pipe we hear.

Air

Damon
Shepherd, what art thou pursuing?
Heedless running to thy ruin;
Share our joy, our pleasure share!
Leave thy passion till tomorrow,
Let the day be free from sorrow,
Free from love, and free from care!
Shepherd…

Recitative

Acis
Lo! hear my love! Turn Galatea, hither turn thine eyes;
See, at thy feet the longing Acis lies!

Air

Acis
Love in her eyes sits playing,
And sheds delicious death;
Love on her lips is straying
And warbling in her breath!
Love on her breast sits panting,
And swells with soft desire;
No grace no charm is wanting,
To set the heart on fire.
Love in her eyes…

Recitative

Galatea
Oh! didst thou know the pains of absent love,
Acis would ne'er from Galatea rove.

Air

Galatea
As when the dove
Laments her love,
All on the naked spray;
When he returns,
No more she mourns,
But love the live-long day.
Billing, cooing,
Panting, wooing,
Melting murmurs fill the grove,
Melting murmurs, lasting love.
As when…
Duet
Galatea and Acis
Happy we!
What joys I feel!
What charms I see!
Of all youth, thou dearest boy!
Of all nymphs, thou brightest fair!
Thou all my bliss, thou all my joy!

Chorus
Happy we!
What joys I feel!
What charms I see!

Act II

Introduction

Chorus
Wretched lovers! Fate has passed
This sad decree: no joy shall last.
Wretched lovers, quit your dream!
Behold the monster Polyphem!
See what ample strides he takes!
The mountain nods, the forest shakes:
The waves run frightened to the shores:
Hark, how the thund’ring giant roars!

Recitative
Polyphemus
I rage, I melt, I burn!
The feeble god has stab’d me to the heart.
Thou, trusty pine,
Prop of my god-like steps, I lay thee by!
Bring me a hundred reeds of decent growth,
To make a pipe for my capacious mouth;
In soft enchanting accents let me breathe
Sweet Galatea’s beauty, and my love.

Air
Polyphemus
O ruddier than the cherry,
O sweeter than the berry,
O nymph more bright
Than moonshine night,
Like kidlings blithe and merry!
Ripe as the melting cluster,
No lily has such lustre;
Yet hard to tame
As raging flame
And fierce as storms that bluster!
O ruddier...

Recitative
Galatea
The lion calls not to his prey,
Nor bids the wolf the lambkin stay.

Polyphemus
Thee, Polyphemus, great as Jove,
Calls to empire and to love,
To his palace in the rock,
To his dairy, to his flock,
To the grape of purple hue,
To the plum of glossy blue,
Wildings, which expecting stand,
Proud to be gather’d by thy hand.

Galatea
Of infant limbs to make my food,
And swill full draughts of human blood!
Go, monster! bid some other guest:
I loathe the host, I loathe the feast!

Air
Polyphemus
Cease to beauty to be suing,
Ever whining love disdaining.
Let the brave their aims pursuing,
Still be conq’ring, not complaining.
Cease to beauty...

Air
Damon
Would you gain the tender creature,
Softly, gently, kindly treat her:
Suff’ring is the lover’s part.
Beauty by constraint possessing
You enjoy but half the blessing,
Lifeless charms without the heart.
Would you...

Recitative
Acis
His hideous love provokes my rage;
Weak as I am, I must engage!
Inspir’d with thy victorious charms,
The god of love will lend his arms.
Air
Acis
Love sounds th’alarm,
And fear is a flying!
When beauty’s the prize,
What mortal fears dying?
In defence of my treasure,
I’d bleed at each vein;
Without her no pleasure
For life is a pain.

Air
Damon
Consider, fond shepherd,
How fleeting’s the pleasure,
That flatters our hopes
In pursuit of the fair!
The joys that attend it,
By moments we measure,
But life is too little
To measure our care.

Recitative
Galatea
Cease, O cease, thou gentle youth,
Trust my constancy and truth,
Trust my truth, and pow’rs above,
The pow’rs propitious still to love!

Trio
Galatea, Acis
The flocks shall leave the mountains,
The woods the turtle dove,
The nymphs forsake the fountains,
Ere I forsake my love!

Polyphemus
Torture! fury! rage! despair!
I cannot, cannot bear!

Galatea, Acis
Not show’rs to larks so pleasing,
Not sunshine to the bee,
Not sleep to toil so easing,
As these dear smiles to me.

Polyphemus
Fly swift, thou massy ruin, fly!
Die, presumptuous Acis, die!

Recitative
Acis
Help, Galatea! help ye parent gods!
And take me dying to your deep abodes.

Chorus
Mourn, all ye muses! weep all ye swains!
Tune your reeds to doleful strains!
Groans, cries and howlings fill the neighbour shore:
Ah, the gentle Acis is no more!

Solo and Chorus
Galatea
Must I my Acis still bemoan,
Inglorious crush’d beneath that stone?
Chorus
Cease, Galatea, cease to grieve!
Bewail not whom thou canst relieve.
Galatea
Must the lovely charming youth
Die for his constancy and truth?
Chorus
Call forth thy pow’r, employ thy art,
The goddess soon can heal thy smart.
Galatea
Say what comfort you can find?
For dark despair o’erclouds my mind.

Recitative
Galatea
’Tis done: thus I exert my pow’r divine;
Be thou immortal, tho’ thou art not mine!

Air
Galatea
Heart, the seat of soft delight,
Be thou now a fountain bright!
Purple be no more thy blood,
Glide thou like a crystal flood.
Rock, thy hollow womb disclose!
The bubbling fountain, lo! it flows;
Through the plains he joys to rove,
Murm’ring still his gentle love.

Chorus
Galatea, dry thy tears,
Acis now a god appears!
See how he rears him from his bed,
See the wreath that binds his head.
Hail thou gentle murm’ring stream,
Shepherds pleasure, muses’ theme!
Through the plains still joy to rove,
Murm’ring still thy gentle love.

† Principal Second Violin
Mark Morris was born on August 29, 1956, in Seattle, Washington, where he studied with Verla Flowers and Perry Brunson. In the early years of his career, he performed with the companies of Lar Lubovitch, Hannah Kahn, Laura Dean, Eliot Feld, and the Koleda Balkan Dance Ensemble. He formed the Mark Morris Dance Group (MMDG) in 1980, and has since created close to 150 works for the company. From 1988 to 1991, he was Director of Dance at Brussels’ Théâtre Royal de la Monnaie, the national opera house of Belgium. In 1990, he founded the White Oak Dance Project with Mikhail Baryshnikov.

Much in demand as a ballet choreographer, Mr. Morris has created 18 ballets since 1986 and his work has been performed by companies worldwide, including San Francisco Ballet, American Ballet Theatre, Ballet du Grand Théâtre de Genève, and the Royal New Zealand Ballet. Noted for his musicality, Mr. Morris has been described as “undeviating in his devotion to music” (The New Yorker). He began conducting performances for MMDG in 2006 and has since conducted at the International Festival of Arts and Ideas, Lincoln Center, and the Brooklyn Academy of Music. He served as Music Director for the 2013 Ojai Music Festival. He also works extensively in opera, directing and choreographing productions for the Metropolitan Opera, New York City Opera, English National Opera, and the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, among others.

Mr. Morris was named a Fellow of the MacArthur Foundation in 1991 and has received eleven honorary doctorates to date. He has taught at the University of Washington, Princeton University, and Tanglewood Music Center. He is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society, and has served as an Advisory Board Member for the Rolex Mentor and Protégé Arts Initiative. Mr. Morris has received the Samuel H. Scripps/American Dance Festival Award for Lifetime Achievement (2007), the Leonard Bernstein Lifetime Achievement Award for the Elevation of Music in Society (2010), the Benjamin Franklin Laureate Prize for Creativity (2012), and the Cal Performances Award of Distinction in the Performing Arts (2013).

Mr. Morris opened the Mark Morris Dance Center in Brooklyn, New York, in 2001 to provide a home for his company, rehearsal space for the dance community, outreach programs for children and seniors, and a school offering dance classes to students of all ages and abilities.

The Mark Morris Dance Group was formed in 1980 and gave its first concert that year in New York City. The company’s touring schedule steadily expanded to include cities in the United States and around the world, and in 1986 it made its first national television program for the PBS series Dance in America. In 1988, MMDG was invited to become the national dance company of Belgium, and spent three years in residence at the Théâtre Royal de la Monnaie in Brussels. The Dance Group returned to the United States in 1991 as one of the world’s leading dance companies. Based in Brooklyn, New York, MMDG maintains strong ties to presenters in several cities around the world, most notably to its West Coast home, Cal Performances, and its Midwest home, the Krannert Center for the Performing Arts at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. MMDG also appears regularly in New York, Boston, Seattle, and Fairfax. The company made its début at the Mostly Mozart Festival in 2002 and at the Tanglewood Music Festival in 2003 and has since been invited to both festivals annually. From the company’s many London seasons, it has received two Laurence Olivier Awards and a Critics’ Circle Dance Award for Best Foreign Dance Company. Reflecting Mr. Morris’ commitment to live music, the Dance Group has featured live musicians in every performance since the formation of the MMDG Music Ensemble in 1996. MMDG regularly collaborates with renowned musicians, including cellist Yo-Yo Ma, pianist Emanuel Ax, mezzo-soprano...
Stephanie Blythe, and jazz trio The Bad Plus, as well as leading orchestras and opera companies, including the Metropolitan Opera, English National Opera, Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra, and the London Symphony Orchestra. MMDG frequently works with distinguished artists and designers, including painters Howard Hodgkin and Robert Bordo, set designers Adrianne Lobel and Allen Moyer, costume designers Martin Pakledinaz and Isaac Mizrahi, and many others. MMDG’s film and television projects include Dido and Aeneas, The Hard Nut, Falling Down Stairs, two documentaries for the United Kingdom’s South Bank Show, and PBS’s Live From Lincoln Center. While on tour, the Dance Group partners with local cultural institutions and community organizations to present Access/MMDG, a program of arts and humanities-based activities for people of all ages and abilities.

Cal Performances and MMDG’s relationship over the last 27 years has played a major part in fulfilling Cal Performances’ commitment to bringing important dance works on a grand scale to Zellerbach Hall. MMDG first performed two mixed repertory programs at Zellerbach Hall in 1987. Since then, Cal Performances has presented regular performances of the holiday classic, The Hard Nut, and 56 different works by Mark Morris, twelve of which were premières and nine of which were commissions. Acis and Galatea marks the 200th MMDG performance at Zellerbach Hall.

Celebrating its 33rd season, Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra has been dedicated to authentic performances of baroque, classical, and early romantic music on original instruments since its inception in 1981. Under the leadership of Music Director Nicholas McGegan, Philharmonia was named Ensemble of the Year by Musical America.

The Orchestra performs an annual subscription season in the San Francisco Bay Area and is regularly heard on tour in the United States and around the world. The Orchestra has its own professional chorus, the Philharmonia Chorale, under the leadership of Bruce Lamott. It welcomes eminent guest artists, including mezzo-soprano Susan Graham, countertenor David Daniels, fortepianist Emanuel Ax, violinist Rachel Podger, and such guest conductors as Jordi Savall, Masaaki Suzuki, and Trevor Pinnock.

Philharmonia’s recent U.S. tour appearances include the Great Performers series at Lincoln Center, the Ravinia Festival in Chicago, Segerstrom Concert Hall in Orange County, the International Chamber Orchestra Festival in Minnesota, Carnegie Hall in New York, the Festival del Sole in California’s Napa Valley, and Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles. In August 2005, Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra made its debut at the BBC Proms in London, Snape Maltings (United Kingdom), and the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam. Philharmonia also appeared as the featured orchestra at the International Handel Festival in Göttingen, Germany, in 1999, 2001, 2002, and 2005.

The Orchestra has had numerous successful collaborations with celebrated musicians, composers, and choreographers. In November 2006, to mark its 25th season and the 20th anniversary of Nicholas McGegan’s tenure as Music Director, Philharmonia premiered its first commissioned work, a one-act opera by Jake Heggie with a libretto by Gene Scheer entitled To Hell and Back.

In collaboration with the Mark Morris Dance Group, Philharmonia gave the U.S. premières of Mr. Morris’s highly acclaimed productions of Henry Purcell’s King Arthur and Jean-Philippe Rameau’s ballet-opera Platée. Philharmonia has also collaborated with many Bay Area performing arts groups, such as Alonzo King LINES Ballet, American Conservatory Theater, San Francisco Girls Chorus, and Chanticleer.
In 2011, Philharmonia launched its own recording label, Philharmonia Baroque Productions (PBP). Its recording of Haydn Symphonies No. 104, “London,” No. 88, and No. 101, “The Clock,” was nominated for a Grammy Award for Best Orchestral Performance. It has also released Vivaldi’s The Four Seasons and other violin concertos featuring Elizabeth Blumenstock as soloist; an acclaimed recording of Handel’s Atalanta; Brahms’s Serenades; and Beethoven’s Symphonies Nos. 4 and 7.

Prior to the launch of PBP, the Orchestra made 32 highly praised recordings for Harmonia Mundi, Reference Recordings, and BMG. Its recording of the Handel oratorio Susanna received a Grammy Award nomination and a 1991 Gramophone Award for best baroque vocal recording.

KDFC is the radio home of Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra. This season, KDFC continues to broadcast a series of unreleased Philharmonia concert recordings the second Sunday of every month from 8–9pm.

Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra was founded by harpsichordist and early music pioneer Laurette Goldberg.

As he embarks on his fourth decade on the podium, Nicholas McGegan (conductor), hailed as “one of the finest baroque conductors of his generation” (The Independent, London), is increasingly recognized for his probing and revelatory explorations of music of all periods. He has been music director of Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra for 27 years, and was Artistic Director of the International Handel Festival Göttingen for 20 years (1991–2011). Beginning in the 2013–2014 season he becomes Principal Guest Conductor of the Pasadena Symphony. His approach to period style—intelligent, infused with joy and never dogmatic—has led to appearances with major orchestras, including: the New York, Los Angeles, and Hong Kong philharmonics; the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Toronto, and Sydney symphonies; the Cleveland and the Philadelphia orchestras; and the Northern Sinfonia and Scottish Chamber Orchestra, where his programs often mingle baroque with later works. He is also at home in opera houses, having conducted companies including Covent Garden, San Francisco, Santa Fe, and Washington.

English-born Mr. McGegan was educated at Cambridge and Oxford. He was made an Officer of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire (OBE) “for services to music overseas.” Other awards include the Halle Handel Prize; the Order of Merit of the State of Lower Saxony (Germany); the Medal of Honor of the City of Göttingen, and a declaration of Nicholas McGegan Day by the Mayor of San Francisco in recognition of his work with Philharmonia Baroque. His extensive discography includes five recent releases on Philharmonia Baroque’s label, Philharmonia Baroque Productions, including Brahms’s Serenades; Berlioz’s Les Nuits d’été and Handel arias with Lorraine Hunt Lieberson; Haydn’s Symphonies Nos. 88, 101, and 104 (nominated for a Grammy Award); Vivaldi’s The Four Seasons and other concertos with violinist Elizabeth Blumenstock; and Handel’s Atalanta, featuring soprano Dominique Labelle.

Critically acclaimed for its brilliant sound, robust energy and sensitive delivery of the text, the Philharmonia Chorale was formed in 1995 to provide a vocal complement whose fluency in the stylistic language of the baroque period matched that of Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra. The 24 members of the Chorale are professional singers with distinguished solo and ensemble experience. Chorale members appear regularly with such organizations as the San Francisco Symphony, Carmel Bach Festival, and American Bach Soloists, and are guest soloists with most of the area’s symphonic and choral organizations. They appear in roles with regional opera companies and have been members and founders of some of the country’s premier vocal ensembles, including Chanticleer, the Dale Warland Singers, and Theatre of Voices.

Founded by John Butt, a baroque keyboardist and one of the world’s leading Bach scholars, the Chorale has been led by conductor and musicologist Bruce Lamott since 1997. In its first decade, the Chorale’s repertoire included nine Handel oratorios, Bach’s St. John Passion and Christmas Oratorio, Mozart’s Mass in C minor, and—in collaboration with other choral ensembles—Beethoven’s Symphony No. 9. The Chorale made its New York debut at the Brooklyn Academy of Music in 1997, and has appeared with Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra at Walt Disney Concert Hall in Los Angeles and the new Segerstrom Concert Hall in Orange Country. The Chorale appears on the Orchestra’s recordings of Arne’s Alfred, Scarlatti’s Cecilian Vespers, and Beethoven’s Symphony No. 9.

Dr. Lamott received a bachelor’s degree from Lewis and Clark College, and an M.A. and Ph.D. in musicology from Stanford University, where he researched the keyboard improvisation practices of the baroque period. Dr. Lamott joined the Musicology faculty at UC Davis, where he directed the Early Music Ensemble. He currently resides in San Francisco, where he teaches choral music and music history at San Francisco University High School and is part-time professor of music history at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. Among his other music-related activities, Dr. Lamott also teaches continuo realization in the Merola Program of San Francisco Opera and lectures for the San Francisco Opera Guild.

Bruce Lamott has been director of the Philharmonia Chorale for more than a decade. He first performed with Philharmonia Baroque Orchestra in 1989 as continuo harpsichordist for Handel’s Giustino.

Dr. Lamott was previously the Director of Choruses and Conductor of the Mission Candlelight Concerts at the Carmel Bach Festival, where his 30-year tenure also included performing as a harpsichordist and presenting as a lecturer and education director. In eight seasons as Choral Director and Assistant Conductor of the Sacramento Symphony, he conducted annual choral concerts of major works, including both Bach Passion settings and Haydn’s The Seasons, as well as preparing the chorus for most of the standard symphonic choral repertoire.

Adrianne Lobel (scenic designer) has carved out an impressive career as a stage designer. Her work tells a visual story in response to a script and/or a piece of music. Ms. Lobel is also a painter. In both painting and stage design, she believes in paring down elements to essentials and that negative space, the space between objects, is as powerful as the objects themselves. Her stage work has most recently been seen on Broadway in The Diary of Anne Frank and A Year with Frog and Toad, and at the Metropolitan Opera for the 2011 staging of John Adams’s Nixon in China (choreographed by Mark Morris and directed by Peter Sellars). Other works with Mr. Sellars include Adams’s Doctor Atomic (San Francisco Opera), The Rake’s Progress (Paris’s Théâtre du Châtelet), The Magic Flute (Glyndebourne Festival), Cosi fan tutte (New York’s Pepsico Summerfare), and The Mikado (Lyric Opera of Chicago). With Mr. Morris, she has designed L’Allegro, il Penseroso ed il Moderato, The Hard Nut, Orfeo ed Euridice, Platée, and King Arthur, among others.
Isaac Mizrahi (costume designer) has been a leader in the fashion industry for almost 30 years. He is the recipient of many accolades including four Council of Fashion Designers of America awards. He was the subject and co-creator of Unzipped, a documentary following the making of his fall 1994 ready-to-wear collection. Mr. Mizrahi is currently the head judge on the television series Project Runway: All Stars. In September 2012, he launched the Isaac Mizrahi New York collection, available at better department stores nationwide. Previously, in December 2009, he launched his lifestyle collection, Isaac Mizrahi Live!, on QVC. In addition to designing for the luxury and mass markets, Mr. Mizrahi has designed costumes for the Mark Morris Dance Group, the Metropolitan Opera, American Ballet Theatre, San Francisco Ballet, and the Opera Theater of St. Louis. Mr. Mizrahi has collaborated with Mr. Morris in 15 productions since 1992, including Platée, Falling Down Stairs, Orfeo ed Euridice, and A Choral Fantasy for MMDG, Beaux for San Francisco Ballet, and Gong for American Ballet Theatre.

Recently hailed by Anthony Tommasini of the New York Times as a “compelling tenor,” the American-Canadian made his New York City Opera début in April 2013 as Mambre in Rossini’s Mosè in Egitto, a production the New York Times dubbed one of the Top 10 classical events of 2013. In addition to Acis and Galatea, another 2014–15 season highlight includes his début with the Seattle Symphony as tenor soloist in the Mozart Requiem with Ludovic Morlot conducting. In November 2014, Mr. Finkelstein records Threshold, an album of new music with the internationally renowned Scharoun Ensemble in Berlin. An acknowledged star in the early-music field, Ms. Panthaki has developed ongoing collaborations with many of the world’s leading interpreters, including Nicholas McGegan, Simon Carrington, John Scott, Mark Morris, and Masaaki Suzuki, with whom she made her New York Philharmonic début in a program of Bach and Mendelssohn. Born and raised in India, Ms. Panthaki holds an Artist Diploma from the Yale School of Music and the Yale Institute of Sacred Music, where she won multiple awards, including the prestigious Phyllis Curtin Career Entry Prize. She earned a master’s degree from the University of Illinois.

Douglas Williams (bass-baritone, Polyphemus) combines a “formidable stage presence” (Seattle Times) with “a bass voice of splendid solidity” (Music Web International), making him one of the most appealing singing actors of the younger generation. He has collaborated with leading ensembles and conductors, including Helmut Rilling, Sir Neville Marriner, John Nelson, Christoph Rousset, and Les Talens Lyriques in such prestigious venues as Lincoln Center, the Kennedy Center, Stuttgart’s Mozart-Saal, and the Frankfurt Alte Oper. the role of Orcone in Alessandro Scarlatti’s Tigrane; reprised in New York a role he premiered as a Tanglewood Fellow in It Happens Like This, a new stage work by Pulitzer Prize-winning composer Charles Wuorinen; and sang Compère in Virgil Thomson’s Four Saints in Three Acts with the Mark Morris Dance Group at the Brooklyn Academy of Music and Apollo in Purcell’s Apollo e Dafne for Pocket Opera. He also appeared as Laurence in Gretry’s Le Magnifique with Opera Lafayette in Washington, D.C., and New York; sang the role of Aeneas in Dido and Aeneas and was a featured soloist in the acclaimed tour of Handel’s Acis and Galatea (Polyphemus), both with the Boston Early Music Festival; and made his European début at Paris’s Salle Pleyel in Purcell’s King Arthur with Christophe Rousset and Les Talens Lyriques.
