Words cannot express my pleasure in welcoming you to Cal Performances this weekend, as we present two extraordinary ensembles at Zellerbach Hall. First, on Saturday evening, New York's pioneering—and electrifying!—Ballet Hispanico makes its Berkeley debut with a vibrant program by an intergenerational cadre of choreographers who have been part of the company's rich 50-year history. And then, on Sunday afternoon, London's renowned Handel specialists The English Concert, directed by insightful conductor Harry Bicket, makes its long-awaited return to Cal Performances with a concert presentation of Handel's 1735 masterpiece Alcina. I'm so happy you could join us for what promises to be a remarkable weekend of dance and music; it's wonderful that we can gather together again, enjoying great live performances under the same roof!

When the pandemic forced Cal Performances to close its doors in March 2020, no one could have imagined what lay ahead. Since then, we've witnessed a worldwide health crisis unlike any experienced during our lifetimes, an extended period of political turmoil, recurring incidents of civil unrest and racially motivated violence, and a consciousness-raising human rights movement that has forever—and significantly—changed how each of us views social justice in our time.

Of course, the pandemic remains with us to this date and future challenges—including many adjustments to "normal" procedures and policies—can certainly be expected. I encourage you to check Cal Performances' website regularly for the most current information regarding our COVID-19 response. First and foremost, I assure you that there is nothing more important to us than the health and safety of our audience, artists, and staff. (And I remind one and all that proof of vaccination is mandatory today, as is protective masking throughout the event.)

Our season continues next weekend with eagerly awaited recitals with mandolinist Avi Avital and guitarist Miloš (Nov 11), jazz master Aaron Diehl and his trio (Nov 12), violinist Leonidas Kavakos and pianist Yuja Wang (Nov 13), and cellist David Finckel and pianist Wu Han (Nov 14). Our full calendar offers more of the same, packed with the kind of adventurous and ambitious programming you've come to expect from Cal Performances. In particular, I want to direct your attention to this year's Illuminations: "Place and Displacement" programming, through which we'll explore both loss and renewal, disempowerment and hope, while seeking paths forward for reclaiming and celebrating vital cultural connections that can fall victim to political and social upheavals.

Please take the opportunity to explore the complete schedule through our website and season brochure and begin planning your performance calendar; now is the perfect time to guarantee that you have the best seats for all the events you plan to attend.

Throughout history, the performing arts have survived incredible challenges: periods of war, economic collapse, and, yes, terrible disease. And if it will take time for us—collectively and individually—to process the events of the past 18 months, I'm certain that the arts have the power to play a critical role as we come to terms with what we have experienced and move together toward recovery.

I know you join us in looking forward to what lies ahead, to coming together once again to encounter the life-changing experiences that only the live performing arts deliver. We can't wait to share it all with you during the coming year.

Cal Performances is back. Welcome home!

18+1 celebrates Gustavo Ramírez Sansano's 19 years as a choreographer and the vulnerability, care, and hope that comes with each artistic endeavor. In a display of subtle humor and electric choreography, the movement merges with the playful rhythms found in Pérez Prado's mambo music. Sansano draws from his history and memory to take a joyous look at the past, present, and coming future.

Buenas noches, good evening! Welcome to Ballet Hispánico's Noche de Oro, a celebration of 50 incredible years of building new ways of exploring the Latinx culture through dance.

Tonight's program starts with Arabesque, a work originally choreographed in 1984, set to Spanish composer Enrique Granados' Twelve Spanish Dances. The ballet exemplifies the company's aesthetic during the 1970s, when Ballet Hispánico was experimenting with fusing flamenco with the classical ballet vocabulary. The choreographer, Vicente Nebrada, was one of only a few Latinx choreographic voices in the classical ballet world at that time. Through this reconstruction, we honor Nebrada's legacy and the impact of Ballet Hispánico's mission to create a platform for Hispanic choreographers.

Tiburones, which translates to "The Sharks," is a work in direct response to the re-emergence of the musical West Side Story in our entertainment world today. In its day, West Side Story was an extraordinary piece of theater, as it was the first time the Puerto Rican community was featured in a major motion picture. While the musical gave us the incredible music of Leonard Bernstein and the captivating choreography of Jerome Robbins, it also left cultural scars for generations of Latinx people. Tiburones seeks to question the gaze of who gets to tell a story, while dispelling the iconic stereotypes that continue to haunt the Latinx community to this day. The work layers our vision of taking back our narrative through the voice of a Latina choreographer, Annabelle Lopez Ochoa.

Spanish choreographer Gustavo Ramírez Sansano is known for his athletic and innovative movement vocabulary. In 18+1, Sansano delves deep into the music of Pérez Prado, the Cuban bandleader, pianist, composer, and arranger who popularized the mambo in the 1950s. Made during his 19th year as a working choreographer, 18+1 creates an explosive musical celebration that captures the essence of our beloved Cuban music.

Thank you for joining us this evening in celebration of Ballet Hispánico's 50 years. Enjoy the show, disfruten!

—Eduardo Vilaro
Artistic Director & CEO

ARTISTIC LEADERSHIP

Eduardo Vilaro (artistic director & CEO) is the artistic director & CEO of Ballet Hispánico (BH). He was named BH's artistic director in 2009, becoming only the second person to head the company since its founding in 1970; in 2015, he was also named the company's chief executive officer. Vilaro has infused Ballet Hispánico's legacy with a bold brand of contemporary dance that reflects America's changing cultural landscape.

Vilaro's philosophy of dance stems from a basic belief in the power of the arts to change lives, reflect and impact culture, and strengthen community. He considers dance to be a liberating, non-verbal language through which students, dancers, and audiences of all walks of life and diverse backgrounds can initiate ongoing conversations about the arts, expression, identity, and the meaning of community.

Born in Cuba and raised in New York from the age of six, Vilaro's own choreography is devoted to capturing the Latin American experience in its totality and diversity, as well as through its intersectionality with other diasporas. His works are catalysts for new dialogues about what it means to be an American. Vilaro has created more than 40 ballets with commissions that include the Ravinia Festival, the Chicago Sinfonietta, the Grant Park Festival, the Lexington Ballet, and the Chicago Symphony.

A Ballet Hispánico dancer and educator from 1988 to 1996, Vilaro left New York, earned a master's in interdisciplinary arts at Columbia College Chicago, and then embarked on his own act of advocacy with a 10-year record of achievement as the founder and artistic director of Luna Negra Dance Theater in Chicago.

The recipient of numerous honors and accolades, Vilaro received the Ruth Page Award for choreography in 2001; was inducted into the Bronx Walk of Fame in 2016; and was named HOMBRE Magazine's Arts & Culture Trailblazer of the Year in 2017. In 2019, he received the West Side Spirit's WESTY Award and the James W. Dodge Foreign Language Advocate Award, and was honored by WNET for his contributions to the arts. In August 2020, City

& State Magazine included Vilaro in the inaugural Power of Diversity: Latin 100 list. In January 2021, Vilaro was recognized with a Compassionate Leaders Award, given to leaders who are courageous, contemplative, collaborative, and care about the world they will leave behind. He is a well-respected speaker on such topics as diversity, equity, and inclusion in the arts, as well as on the merits of the intersectionality of cultures and the importance of nurturing and building Latinx leaders.

Tina Ramirez (founder) founded Ballet Hispánico in 1970 and served as the company's artistic director until 2009. Under her direction, over 45 choreographers—many of international stature and others in the early stages of their careers—created works for the company.

Ramirez was born in Venezuela, the daughter of a Mexican bullfighter and grandniece of a Puerto Rican educator who founded the island's first secular school for girls. Her performing career included international touring with the Federico Rey Dance Company, the Broadway productions of Kismet and Lute Song, and the television adaptation of Man of La Mancha.

In recognition of her enduring contributions to the field of dance, Ramirez received the National Medal of Arts, the nation's highest cultural honor, in 2005. Juilliard awarded her an honorary degree, Doctor of Fine Arts, in 2018. Numerous other awards include the Honor Award from Dance/USA (2009), the Award of Merit from the Association of Performing Arts Presenters (2007), the Dance Magazine Award (2002), the Hispanic Heritage Award (1999), a Citation of Honor at the 1995 New York Dance and Performance Awards (the "Bessies"), the New York State Governor's Arts Award (1987), and the New York City Mayor's Award of Honor for Arts & Culture (1983).

Johan Rivera (associate artistic director and Latinx dance institute director) was born in San Juan, Puerto Rico and began his dance training at the School for the Performing Arts, PR under the direction of Waldo Gonzalez. Rivera graduated magna cum laude with a BFA from the New World School of the Arts/University of Florida in 2013. While there, he had the opportunity to perform the works of Robert Battle, Kyle Abraham, Peter London, Daniel Lewis, Merce Cunningham, and Doris Humphrey as well as simultaneously working with local dance companies in Miami, FL. During his tenure with Ballet Hispánico, Rivera had the pleasure of performing the ballets of choreographers including Annabelle Lopez Ochoa, Gustavo Ramírez Sansano, Pedro Ruiz, and Eduardo Vilario. In addition, he was a vital member of the company's Community Arts Partnerships team as a teaching artist while on tour and at home in New York City. Aspiring to further his knowledge and skills, Rivera ventured into the world of higher education. In 2016, he received a master of arts degree in executive leadership with high honors, an achievement he dearly treasures as the first member of his family to have such an opportunity. Upon graduation, Rivera had the honor of mentoring and directing Ballet Hispánico's second company, BHdos, in the fall of 2016 before taking over as rehearsal director for the main company. After four seasons as rehearsal director, Rivera transitioned to Ballet Hispánico's marketing department as the digital marketing manager, playing a key role in the development and creation of the organization's virtual programming. Now, as the associate artistic director and Latinx Dance Institute director, Rivera supports the artistic curation for the company and Ballet Hispánico's thought leadership programming alongside the artistic director and CEO, Eduardo Vilario.

Linda Celeste Sims (rehearsal director) began training at Ballet Hispánico School of Dance and graduated from LaGuardia High School of the Performing Arts. Sims has received the 2016 Inspiración Award from Ballet Hispánico, won Outstanding Performance at the 2014 New York Dance and Performance Awards ("The Bessies"), and most recently, received the 2017 Dance Magazine Award. She has been featured on the cover Dance Magazine as well as on So You Think You Can Dance, Dancing With the Stars, the Ellen DeGeneres Show, the Mo'Nique Show, Live with Kelly and Michael, and NBC's Today show. Sims has appeared at the White House Series, Youth America Grand Prix, Vail International Dance Festival, and galas in Budapest and Vienna, and originated featured roles by Judith Jamison, Donald Byrd, Alonso King, Dwight Rhoden, Ronald K. Brown, Mauro Bigonzetti, Jennifer Muller, Karole Armitage, Lynn Taylor Corbett, Rennie Harris, Christopher L. Huggins, and Azure Barton. She teaches master classes around the world and is a certified Zena-Rommett Floor-Barre instructor. Sims danced for Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater from 1996–2020 and was also the assistant to the rehearsal director.

DESIGNERS

Randy Barceló (costume designer) was a multi-talented Cuban-born designer and artist. He was the first Hispanic person to be nominated as Best Costume Design for a Tony Award for his designs for Jesus Christ Superstar in 1972. Barceló designed costumes for many other Broadway productions, including Lenny, The Magic Show, and Ain't Misbehavin'. He also worked with dance companies including Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater and Ballet Hispánico, where he worked on his final project in 1994, Alberto Alonso's Si Señor! Es Mi Son!.

Savannah Bell (lighting designer) is a New York-based lighting designer and production electrician. She often spends time away from home working at places such as Okobojo Summer Theatre, Williamstown Theatre Festival, Santa Fe Opera, and touring the nation with Broadway musicals. Her past dance opportunities include the Missouri Contemporary Ballet, Jody Oberfelder, and Green Space Studios.

Ghabriello Fernando (costume designer) is a fashion designer from Puerto Rico who is known for his architectural designs and classic silhouettes. His aesthetic is a bond between past and future; sophistication with a modern twist. From an early age, Ghabriello showed a talent for sewing and design. As a dancer, he began what became his life work by designing dance costume for classical ballets such as The Nutcracker, Dracula, Romeo and Juliet, and many others. In 2011, he debuted as an emerging designer and his popularity spread abroad. Soon enough, many people started knocking on his door for exclusive designs, including celebrities and the First Lady of Puerto Rico, Wilma Pastrana. In 2013, he moved to New York, where he has worked with great designers such as Angel Sanchez, Gustavo Cadille, and Zac Posen. In 2015, he redesigned costumes for Pedro Ruiz's Club Havana for Ballet Hispánico.

Donald Holder (lighting designer) has worked extensively in theater, opera, dance architectural, and television lighting in the US and abroad for over 25 years. He has designed more than 50 Broadway productions, has been nominated for 11 Tony Awards, winning the Tony for Best Lighting for The Lion King and the 2008 revival of South Pacific. Holder was head of the lighting design program at the Californian Institute of the Arts from 2006–10; received an honorary doctorate from Muhlenberg College; and is a graduate of the University of Maine and the Yale University School of Drama.

Diana Ruettiger (costume reconstruction) has served as wardrobe supervisor for Luna Negra Dance Theater and costume designer for dance for Life Chicago, Columbia College, and the Chicago Academy for the Arts. She has worked as stitcher and crew for the Joffrey Ballet and numerous Broadway touring shows. Ruettiger owned and operated a costume shop for 25 years before moving to New York to begin her tenure supervising wardrobe for Ballet Hispánico.

Joshua Paul Weckesser (lighting designer) is originally from Normal, Illinois. He is the founder of Bread & Roses Productions, dedicated to providing production support to art-based originations. Working primarily in dance, Weckesser's designs have been seen across the US and internationally. He has been working closely with Molly Shanahan/Mad Shak as a lighting designer and core collaborator since 2003. He also works with LEVELdance and the Chicago Human Rhythm Project as their resident lighting designer. Career highlights include lighting the first-ever evening-length production of American Tap at the Kennedy Center, working with Karole Armitage in the Netherlands, and touring with Gobsnacked and Che Malambo.

Mark Zappone (costume designer) served Pacific Northwest Ballet from 1983 to 1988 as costume designer, shop supervisor, and wardrobe master. He then moved to Monte Carlo, where he managed costume shops for Les Ballets de Monte-Carlo and Le Cabaret de Monte-Carlo, continuing to Switzerland and Amsterdam with Holiday on Ice. Zappone has collaborated with many renowned choreographers and designers, including Twyla Tharp, Christopher Wheeldon, and Yuri Possokhov. In addition to his many ballets for PNB, Zappone has designed costumes for numerous dance companies worldwide.

Watson was the lighting supervisor for New York Stage and Film for four seasons. They have designed and coordinated lighting for events and concerts in NYC for the past several years. Favorites include Rihanna's Diamond Ball, War Child, Michael Kors, and many more. Amy Page (wardrobe director) is a costume creator and wardrobe supervisor who is thrilled to return to Ballet Hispánico as the company's wardrobe director. She enjoys working with costume designers and artists to transform their dreams into reality. Through lightning-fast quick changes and marathon loads of laundry, her calm, capable presence brings a ray of sunshine to the backstage world. Page's costumes have graced the stages of Lincoln Center and the Joyce Theater and can be seen in the repertoire of Kyle Abraham's A.I.M., Dance Theater of Harlem, Keigwin & Company, Dorrance Dance, and Camille A. Stacey designed for theater and dance companies in NYC and her most recent project was with the Vail Dance Festival, where she collaborated with companies like New York City Ballet, American Ballet Theatre, and Ballet X, and dancers including Lauren Lovette and Lil Buck.
