She was last seen at the Metropolitan Opera as Laura Brown in the world premiere of Kevin Puts' The Hours, which earned a Grammy nomination for Best Opera Recording.

O'Hara is a frequent performer on PBS' live telecasts of the Kennedy Center Honors and performs often alongside the New York Philharmonic and the New York Pops. Along with her two Grammy nominations, O'Hara's solo albums, Always and Wonder in the World, are available on Ghostlight.

O'Hara recently completed a critically acclaimed, limited Broadway engagement of the new musical Days of Wine and Roses, which also garnered rave reviews during its Off-Broadway run at the Atlantic Theatre Company. She won the Outer Critics Circle Award and the Drama Desk Award for Outstanding Lead Performer in a Broadway Musical in addition to receiving Tony and Drama League nominations.

Most recently, O'Hara was seen in the new CBS series Sheriff Country and starred opposite Tom Hanks in the new Off-Broadway play This World of Tomorrow. This spring, she will return to Broadway opposite Rose Byrne in the revival of Noël Coward's comedy of bad manners Fallen Angels.
